SUICIDE IN NEWARK.—On Saturday evening last, between six and seven o'clock, James C. Mattison, aged twenty-two years, son of Dr. J. Y. Mattison of No. 190 Mount Pleasant avenue, committed suicide at his father's residence, by hanging himself. Returning home from East Newark, where he had recently obtained employment, he conversed freely and cheerfully with his father and the rest of the family. Just before supper was announced he handed to his brother Willie, aged sixteen, a letter addressed to his wife, who is living in Trenton with her father, and instructed Willie to deliver it to her. Passing to the door of the house he went to an outbuilding where his brother saw him take a rope from his pocket, and examining it thrust it again into his pocket. Going around to the back of the out-house young Mattison remained there about fifteen minutes, when his brother Willie, fearing that something was wrong went in search, and was horrified at discovering his brother suspended from a tree by a rope which was about his neck, and which was choking him to death. Willie gave an alarm and as soon as possible Dr. Mattison hastened to the rescue of his unfortunate son, but he was too late, for when he cut the rope and examined the pulse and heart of his son it was discovered that life was extinct.

The suicide was a promising young man, and was married to a beautiful woman, daughter of a Mr. Warner, of Trenton. Previous to last Fall the deceased and his wife lived happily in this city in a handsome house, the gift of Dr. Mattison. Mr. Warner, the father of Mrs. Mattison, being a widower and therefore lonesome, requested his son-in-law to remove to Trenton and dwell with him. Mrs. Mattison added her entreaties, and her husband finally consented to live with Mr. Warner. Soon after going to reside there differences arose, and Mattison left his wife and returned to this city. Frequently since then he has written letters to her begging her to return to Newark, but she equivocated, and last week announced her determination to remain with her father. Disheartened with the action of his wife, whom he had loved devotedly, it is thought that his mind became unsettled and in a fit of despondency he committed the rash act which deprived him of life. To-morrow the funeral will take place, Rev. Dr. McIlvaine officiating. The remains will be interred in Washington, Warren county, N.J.—See Journal.

FIRE IN PASSAIC.—A destructive fire on Saturday night in the city of Passaic. Several buildings, including a large hotel, the Acquackanock House, were burned involving a loss of $10,000. The fire department of the place were promptly on the ground, but, unequal to the magnitude of the work, aid was summoned from the neighboring city of Paterson. The flames spread with great rapidity, and the extensive livery establishment of Henry Yereance were quickly destroyed, including several valuable horses. Wilson's stables were also burned but the horses were rescued by the fireman. The Acquackanock House was soon in a blaze, and despite the heroic efforts of the firemen was totally destroyed. The flames then extended northward along the Erie railway, destroying several smaller buildings, dwelling and stores, when at last the firemen by vigorous efforts gained control of the flames, and at 2 o'clock Sunday morning the fire was subdued, a Paterson Hook & Ladder Co. tearing down a part of the last block of buildings. Two lives were lost. Henry Gertie, aged twenty-one, and Henry Jackson (colored), aged twenty-four, in Yereance's stable at the time of the fire. It is said that they were intoxicated all the evening, and reaching the stable while under the influence of liquor, fired it while lighting a lamp or cigar. Their screams were heard, but the men could not be saved. By some fire is supposed to be the work of an incendiary. Cap. Bird W. Spencer, of Company K, Ninth Regiment, N. G. S. N. Y., residing in Passaic, saw a stout man leave the flames hurriedly; the Captain seized the man, but he escaped by making a vigorous fight, and stabbing Spencer in the hand. He wore a short coat, buttoned tightly at the waist, and was a little taller than ordinary height. On Saturday afternoon Henry Gertie, one of the burned men, and a stranger, fought in a liquor store. The result was not serious; both men had been drinking. It is hinted that this man who fought with Gertie was the incendiary, and that his motives were revenge.

On Thursday evening Mrs. Eliza Shephard, residing in East Orange, while preparing the evening meal attempted to hasten the fire by pouring kerosene oil upon it. The can exploded and she was enveloped in the burning oil. Her clothing was immediately in flames and she ran into the street screaming wildly for help. Two gentlemen, Mr. Nelson Greenwood and Mr. F. M. Holden, came to her assistance and succeeded in extinguishing the flames, but not until she was so badly burned, that recovery was impossible, and after a few hours of terrible agony she died. She leaves a husband and several children.—Chronicle.

The facilities for reaching Long Branch and the Summer resorts along the coast have been greatly increased by the New Jersey Southern Railroad, the boats of which now leave New York at 6.45 and 9.40 in the morning, and at 1.40, 4.45, and 5.15 in the afternoon, connecting with their trains at Sandy Hook. Five trips per day are also made from the Branch, enabling visitors to spend the day, or a fraction of it.

Educational Notes.

The Commencement Season is in progress. Dr. McCosh delivered the Baccalaureate sermon at Princeton, his subject being "Singleness of Eye."

It is expected that the Art College connected with Rutgers University will be in operation within a year.

The new High School in Richmond, Va., costing $34,180 for ground and building, will be completed in August.

Of the senior class at Yale, this year, 41 chose the law for a profession, 15 business, 13 the ministry, 6 teaching, 2 journalism, 2 banking, 2 civil engineering, 1 art, and 1 mining.

They gave degrees to women at Straight University in New Orleans. Amanda Malvina Perkins and Miss Smith have recently been dignified by the title of M. S.—"Maid of Science."

Mr. A. H. Stephens, in his own paper, The Atlanta Sun, advertises his new School History in the most gorgeous manner, observing that "it only needs 'pushing,' to give it a place in every school and family in the land."

A school in Leavenworth, Kansas, has a class of young girls in Civil Government, and the way in which they described our political machinery and quoted the Constitution at an examination not long ago, so charmed a benign reporter that he declared they "convincingly established woman's claim to the right of suffrage, and to an equal share in the framing of our laws."
